

Environment Industry day 2016

Good jobs. Local jobs. Environmental jobs.

WHEN: Tuesday October 25, 2016, 1:30 PM - 7:00 PM

WHERE: Queen's Park Legislative Building, 47 Queens Park Crescent E, Toronto

About this event

Each year, the Ontario Environment Industry Association (ONEIA) holds Environment Industry Day at the Ontario legislature. Hundreds of representatives from environment firms descend on Queen's Park to discuss issues of concern and raise the visibility of Ontario's vital environment sector.

Ontario faces a job creation challenge. How – in a world that is facing increasing global competition – do we create quality local jobs in communities across the province? Our province's environment and cleantech sector is a proven job creator, already employing more than 65,000 of our fellow citizens in areas as diverse as waste and recycling; global environmental consulting; brownfield redevelopment; energy efficiency and generation; and water and wastewater management. We need government policies that place economic growth and job creation first as a way to improve our environment, help our industries and create new local jobs.

Who will attend?

Senior representatives from approximately 100 environment and cleantech firms; senior officials from the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change and other relevant ministries; a range of Ministers, MPP's, critics and senior politicians from all three parties.

Companies attending in previous years have included:

AECOM, TSX Venture Capital Exchange, Stantec, Golder Associates, City of Toronto, KPMG, BDC, Progressive Waste Solutions, Waste Management, Terrapure, Endetec/Veolia, RWDI, AGAT, Maxxam Analytics, Aslan Technologies, LafargeHolcim, SGS, WorleyParsons, Willms & Shier Environmental Lawyers, Trojan Technologies, Pinchin, XCG, CH2M, GHD, ALS, Fogler Rubinoff LLP, Dillon Consulting, Biorem, Bereskin & Parr, Fielding Environmental, WaterTAP, and different government agencies and municipalities.
